

ICE AGE LAKES IN THE MOJAVE

A San Bernardino County Museum Association Trip to the Mojave Desert with Curator of Paleontology Eric Scott
Saturday , October 16, 2004

Join us on a tour of ancient Ice Age lakes in the Mojave Desert led by Eric Scott, Museum Curator of Paleontology. The field trip will tour the western and central Mojave Desert, with stops to view some of the better-known Ice Age lakes located along the Interstate 15 freeway. Stops are scheduled at Lake Manix east of Barstow and Lake Mojave near Baker, with a stop in Victorville as well. An optional extension may take the group north to Lake Tecopa near Shoshone.

On our journey we'll see the desert with new eyes: where today we find empty plains and dry stream channels, we'll imagine the many freshwater lakes and rivers that once shimmered throughout the Mojave. Mr. Scott will discuss what the region was like during the Ice Ages, and will bring actual Pleistocene fossils from throughout the Mojave along for our trip to help us picture the animals that once lived near those ancient lakes and streams.

Stops will be brief and involve minimal amounts of hiking. Hats, sunglasses and hiking shoes are recommended. The length of the trip, which leaves the museum at 9 a.m., will be about 8 to 10 hours.

Accompanying this field trip will be an advance introductory lecture by Mr. Scott, "The Ice Ages Without Ice," on Sunday, October 10 at 2:00 p.m. in the museum's Fisk Gallery. This lecture will be open to the general public.
